DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Okada et al. (US 20020018643).

Regarding Claim 1: Okada et al. disclose a moving picture reproducing terminal comprising: a memory unit for storing a moving picture content in association with a specific name (paragraph 69-70); a moving picture content decoding unit for reproducing moving picture content stored in association with specific name (paragraph 69-70); a moving picture display unit for displaying decoded moving picture data (paragraph 69-70); and a control unit for controlling the other units; wherein, during a first reproduction process of said moving picture content, a relative time position of the content at a given point in time relative to the beginning of content is stored into memory unit together with a result of the decoded moving picture data in effect at point in time (paragraph 69-70); and wherein, during a second reproduction process of moving picture content, control unit causes moving picture content decoding unit to reproduce said moving picture content starting from relative time position by use of relative time position and result of decoded moving picture data retrieved from memory unit (paragraph 222).

Regarding Claim 2: Okada et al. disclose a moving picture reproducing terminal according to claim 1, wherein relative time position of said content at said point in time relative to the beginning of content is stored together with said result of decoded moving picture data in effect at point in time in association with each of a plurality of specific names given to a plurality of moving picture contents, so that during second reproduction process, any one of moving picture contents is reproduced starting from relative time position (paragraph 69-70).

Regarding Claim 3: Okada et al. disclose a moving picture reproducing terminal according to claim 1, wherein it is possible to specify for said specific name whether or not to store relative time position of content at point in time relative to the beginning of content together with result of decoded moving picture data in effect at point in time (paragraph 69-70); and wherein the specification is stored into memory so that during second reproduction process of moving picture content, relative time position of content at point in time relative to the beginning of content and result of decoded moving picture data are stored differently depending on specification in storage unit (paragraph 69-70).

Regarding Claims 4-5: Claims 4-5 are rejected for the same subject matter as claims 1 and 3 respectively.
